

Bringing Private Couch Comfort to the Office: Introducing Framery One Lounge

The new interior option for one of the world's most popular office pods is crafted to redefine the work-comfort balance in solo workspaces.

TAMPERE, FINLAND – June 9, 2025 – Framery, the global leader in office pods, today announced Framery One Lounge, a new interior layout option for its bestselling Framery One pod. With its new custom sofa, the pod becomes an oasis, offering the work-from-home benefits of privacy and comfort right in the office.

Building on the success of Framery One as a go-to for focused tasks and calls, Framery One Lounge replaces the standard stool and adjustable desk with an ergonomic sofa and fixed-height table. This redesigned interior cultivates a more relaxed and supportive atmosphere, versatile for both concentrated work and essential pauses.

One of the most popular pods ever: The Framery One

"People love using Framery One for quick calls, focused tasks, or a moment to regroup," says Henrik Ashorn, Product Director for Framery One. "Framery One Lounge brings added comfort to those moments and creates a more relaxed, supportive atmosphere."

Developed with Framery's signature quality, the Framery One Lounge interior features an elevated sofa designed to support natural posture and a perfectly positioned fixed-height table for ergonomic comfort. An optional monitor mount further enhances its functionality, making it ideal for video calls and focused screen work. Coupled with optimized lighting and acoustics, Framery One Lounge provides a clean, spacious, and supportive environment within a minimal office footprint. These elements combine to redefine the solo workspace, offering a smart, comfortable, and versatile solution that supports the evolving needs of the modern workday.

Framery One Lounge makes its debut at Neocon in Chicago and is now available for orders. It joins the Framery One Essentials and Framery One Premium in the product lineup, further empowering organizations to create workplaces people truly love.

ABOUT FRAMERY

Framery is the global leader in soundproof pods and smart office solutions, enabling people to focus on what truly matters and get things done. Framery is a necessity for a successful workday for millions of knowledge workers in over 100 countries and within most of the world's leading companies including Nvidia, Puma, and Microsoft. In fact, around 70% of all Forbes Top 100 companies use our products.

For further information and interview requests please contact: media@framery.com